FIRE RAZES SANDE'S MILL

Spectacular blaze also hits shed

A sudden fire destroyed Sande Lumber mill Sunday, and wiped out a nearby warehouse owned by Doc's Cartage.

The spectacular fire broke out Sunday at approximately 6:30 p.m.

Intense heat from the blaze kept spectators at a distance. The mill, not in operation since July, 1967, is located to the south of the Catholic Church property on Lakelse.

At one stage, fear was expressed for the Shell gasoline and oil storage tanks near the mill.

Fire chief Andy Owens posted a man to keep a hose trained on the tanks. But the strong easterly wind eased the explosion hazard.

However the gusting breeze posed further problems to the firefighters. Burning particles were blown up to 500 yards from the fire.

Particles caused a minor fire on the roof of the Liquor Store and other particles reached as far as Totem BA on Lakelse Ave.

Cause of the fire is not known. Fire Chief Andy Owens said an investigation will be started. It was the second fire at the mill within a week.

The fire destroyed some $45,000 worth of machinery in the Sande Lumber fire.

A further estimated $20,000 of stock belonging to Terrace Co-op was also destroyed. Co-op was using the Doc's Cartage facilities.

Terrence fire department worked to confine the fire.

It broke out at approximately 6:30 and was under control an hour later when it had burnt itself out.

The planer mill at Sande's was unharmed by the blaze.

However firemen were forced to keep close watch on the fire site for a 24 hour period because of smouldering sawdust in the ground and the hazard of a further outbreak from the smoking timber.

The fire is believed to have started in Sande Lumber Mill and the flames were fanned by strong winds across the CNR railway tracks to ignite the cartage warehouse.

At one point the CN telecommunication lines were threatened by the fire. Telegraph poles caught fire but were extinguished by fire hoses.

How the fire started in Sande's Mill is not known. But superintendent Eric Turner said he had checked the mill just one hour before the fire was reported.

His check followed a minor fire at the mill one week earlier.

Turner told the Herald that the previous Saturday he had found the back wall of the mill smouldering and had called the fire department.

"I hated to see this happen," he told the Herald. "It makes an awful mess."

Turner said that the mill machinery was adequately insured.

The disused Sande's mill was the oldest standing in Terrace.

FIRE CHIEF RAPS GAWKING MOTORISTS

Fire Chief Andy Owens has rapped local motorists for impeding firemen at Sunday's fire which destroyed Sande Lumber mill.

He said that five motorists will be prosecuted for driving their cars over fire hoses.

He blamed motorists for bringing their cars too close to the scene of the fire and blocking emergency vehicles.

"They were blocking off firemen," he told the Herald.

"They have to drive right there. They won't park their cars even three blocks away," Owens said.

He said that actual crowds watching the fire did not cause any trouble, with the exception of a few children.

Stewart seeks road to Terrace

Stewart wants a road link to Terrace.

And the Stewart Board of Trade is not accepting Lands and Forests minister Ray Williston's suggestion that lack of funds has held up completion of the remaining three miles of road linking the communities.

Columbia Cellulose has built its own road to the Nass area.

But in a letter to Atlin NDP member Frank Calder, the minister for Lands and Forests said the Columbia Cellulose can not be pressured into completing the road because of its current financial difficulties.

Williston said that construction of the remaining three miles of road and the building of a 300-foot bridge across the Nass River near Moine Lake would cost more than $800,000.

Williston added that he did not have funds available in his department's current budget.

He said that he would "have to have agreement that this bridge had a high priority to secure such an allocation in the immediate future."

Calder, who recently met the Stewart Board of Trade, said: "Stewart recognizes the tremendous amount of road building achieved by Columbia Cellulose and the amount of money spent, but at the same time feels road access to Terrace is necessary because of mining development in the area and inclusion of the area in the Skeena-Cassiar school district and the new hospital region, both of which have headquarters in Stewart."

Calder said completion of the road would also link Nass Camp, Alamyah, Canyon City, Greenville and Kincolith with Terrace.

The Atlin MLA will meet the Terrace Chamber of Commerce to solicit its support for Stewart's request.

Meanwhile, Alice Arm feels a road linking it with the Stewart-Terrace highway is essential because B.C. Molybdenum Ltd. is now in production.

This road would be about 32 miles long.

Construction of a four-mile road from the B.C. Molybdenum townsite to Alice Arm and the government wharf is also being urged.

Calder will also take this request to provincial officials and he has the full backing of the mining company.

Mines Minister Donald Brotherton is expected to visit Alice Arm later this year to study the feasibility of building the roads.

Renewed optimism at Colcel

Columbia Cellulose president and chief executive officer George W. Scrimshaw told the company's annual meeting (April 29) that the 1968 operations "can be viewed with renewed optimism."

Scrimshaw cited a net loss for the first quarter of 1968 of $2,261,000 compared with a loss of $3,754,000 in the last quarter of 1967.

"If production can continue uninterrupted for the remainder of the year, the losses originally projected will be substantially less than anticipated," he said.

However, he warned that labor disputes could cause serious problems to the company.

He referred to current negotiations of contracts with the coast IWA and pulpworkers' unions. "Increases in wages and benefits are being sought without regard to productivity and at a time when profits have been shrinking within the industry," he said.

"I need not point out that prolonged plant closure or an increase in costs to meet unreasonable wage demands will affect our plans for recovery," Scrimshaw warned.

The chief executive officer said that the company's two major problems were making facilities produce to potential; and control, organization, administration and cost reduction.

He said production was well in hand and that the question of control was "showing response".

Study common good, truck loggers told

Newly-formed Northwest Truck Logger's Association was told (April 27) that united with other associations it could change woods legislation.

But, keynote speaker Fred Elgert warned, the associations had to consider the welfare of the whole province.

"We can change legislation but we have to be careful that we use this instrument intelligently and for the common good," Elgert said.

Elgert is president of the Prince George and District Loggers Association. He came to Terrace to address the first annual meeting of the locally based truck loggers association.

Elgert also criticized government policy in awarding timber quotas to major companies which, he said, "will rot before ever it will be processed."

He said he expected quotas to be cut in half.

"They (the government) are belatedly realizing that they goofed and saw the small sawmiller go out," Elgert said. "They don't want to see the small independent logger go out and I think we are in the unique position where we can do something about it."

A second speaker, Tom Fisher, secretary manager of the Vancouver Island Western Independent Log Haulers' Association, told members to take an active part in community affairs.

"You should start to think about creating a public image," he said.

He called for great involvement in community affairs and service projects.

Outgoing president of the Northwest Association, Lloyd Scott warned members that the majority of truck loggers start work with little experience, face a heavy expenditure up to $40,000 to get started, pay high interest rates because of low capital investment.

He said that truck loggers because of lack of organization and experience were placed at a disadvantage when dealing with the mills.

He stressed however that this

FAYE SHORT
... heads truckers

"We know the way costs are going," Little said. "Your problems are becoming more severe. I think that one way you can combat it is to have a firm group that will stick together and work for your own betterment."

Terrence Mayor J. Fred Weber told the loggers "the economy of the country is directly tied to the business that you people represent."

"We are very well aware of the contribution that logging and truckers are making to this district."

The association elected Faye Short president, replacing founding president Lloyd Scott who remains on the executive as past president.

Other members of the new executive are: Syd Munson, vice president; Geo. Munson Jr., treasurer and secretary; Dwain McColl. Directors are Harold Livingstone, Wm. Mahoney and Ed Gordon.

Shot mother-in-law

Terrence plumber Roger Lyall Christopherson was defended by Hugh and John McGivern of Vancouver.

Crown prosecutors were A. A. W. Macdonell and R. T. Errico.

Christopherson was charged following the shooting death of his mother-in-law and the wounding of his wife JoAnne (Dodie) Christopherson the night of February 27.

Defence counsel called Christopherson as a defence witness following testimony by RCMP Corporal N. S. Shalge.

Shalge introduced the following account of Christopherson's interrogation the night of the shooting:

"Did you shoot the gun at Mary?" "No."

"Did you shoot the gun at JoAnne?" "No."

Christopherson was sentenced for the manslaughter death of his mother-in-law Mrs. Mary Pearl McColl May 13.

An all-male assize court jury in Prince Rupert found him guilty of the lesser charge. He was first charged with non-capital murder.

The jury took three hours to reach its decision. They returned once to hear a transcript of evidence by RCMP crime detection lab technician Natalie Pawlowich. She testified how Christopherson's blood alcohol reading of .20 on the day of his mother-in-law's death would have affected him.

Mr. Justice J. G. Gould remanded Christopherson to May 13 for sentence.

Christopherson guilty of manslaughter

"Did you shoot the gun at Dodie?" "No, I pointed the gun at Mary. I was just going to fool people, act stupid."

Christopherson told the court that on the day in question, he and a friend consumed the better part of three gallons of wine.

He also admitted having "a few beers, . . . one or two gin and tonics, . . . some vodka in the morning," and several other drinks which he does not remember.

Christopherson said he had been drinking all day, and "don't remember much after about 6:30 p.m."

"I went to the Lakelse beer parlor or the Legion, I don't know which one. I was told the next day, but don't remember a thing about it. I first learned I had been there the next day when I woke up in jail and the police told me."

"I don't recall being at the Skeena Hotel, though they said I was. The first thing I remember is seeing my wife Dodie on the floor. I grabbed the phone and called police, got them, and shortly after that several policemen came to my apartment."

"I don't remember firing the rifle or holding it in my hand. I can remember being taken to the hospital and a needle being stuck in my arm, my left arm. I think, then the next I remember is waking up in jail."

When questioned by Crown counsel A. A. W. Macdonell, particularly about his drinking, Christopherson told the court his marriage had been broken partially because of drinking, and that "on several occasions I have missed pretty well a whole weekend because of my drinking and blacking out."

Dr. Robert Ewan Lee, who performed the autopsy on Mrs. McColl, testified:

"There were six gunshot wounds in the deceased woman, but I attributed death to one, which entered at a point two inches below the tip of the left arm, passed through the heart, diaphragm and liver, to be recovered in the right abdominal wall."

"Death would be instantaneous," Dr. Lee concluded.

Award for Terrace

Kitimat players best in festival

Schisgal outpointed Shakespeare and a group of mad ladies from Terrace won themselves a consolation award.

That's the story in brief of the Skeena Regional one-act play festival held here Thursday to Saturday.

Schisgal's avant garde play "Fragments" took festival honors for Kitimat Players.

Festival judge Paddy Malcolm's approval of their presentation at Saturday's honor performance will send them to Kelowna in June to contest the B.C. one-act finals.

They were chosen over Prince Rupert Civic Centre's condensed version of Shakespeare's Taming of the Shrew.

And to the strong Terrace presentation of Arthur Kopit's "Chamber Music" was the unique presentation of best supporting actress to eight actresses. They played inmates of a mental hospital. The eight women, directed by Robin McColl, who take one-eighth each of the best supporting actress award are: Bonnie Anderson, Will Cote, Maureen Cree, Joan Cunningham, Avis Delany, Barbara Halliday, Joyce Holden and Molly Nattress.

Kitimat Players received two additional awards. Jim Brown received best actor award in "Fragments" and R.G. Pooley was named best director.

Lynn Whitehouse, lead in "Taming of the Shrew" presented by Prince Rupert Civic Centre Little Theatre, was named best actress in the festival. Will Hankinson in the same play won the award for best supporting actor. Stanley Savatsky was given honorary mention as stage manager.

Patricia Nicolson received honorable mention for her part in the Kemano Valley Players presentation "Little Glass Houses".

Pat Bolton in "The Celebration" by Prince Rupert Little Theatre was also given honorable mention.

"I was very much impressed with the high standard of the Festival," was Mrs. Paddy Malcolm's remark when she finished her adjudication at the close of the one-act competition.

Mrs. Malcolm felt that the public had a chance of seeing two very interesting evenings with all types of entertainment "from Shakespeare to the contemporary of Schisgal".

Some 400 people attended the honor performance in Skeena Secondary School auditorium on Saturday night. Attendance at both the Thursday and Friday performances was called good by festival spokesmen.

Terrence Little Theatre members working back stage were Mrs. Margaret van Herdas stage manager assisted by Ben Leenders. John Nance was lighting director.

Some eighty people attended the party following the Saturday night performance at the spacious home of Dr. and Mrs. R.E. Lee in Westview. A presentation was made to Mrs. Malcolm.

OFF TO OTTAWA today is Elizabeth Horsfield, Grade 11 student at Skeena Secondary, who won the local Rotary Club's contest with a projection of Terrace in the year 2,000.

Shopping centre set to open

Terrence Shopping Centre is open for business next Wednesday, May 15 at 9 a.m.

The major construction project at Lakelse and Emmerson will bring six new stores to the community. Three other local stores will locate in the centre.

Two shopping giants joining the community are F. W. Woolworth, with a 20,000 square foot store, and Canada Safeway with a deluxe model food store.

Also making their entry for the first time in the Terrace market will be Cunningham Drug Stores, Copp the Shoe Man, Sweet Sixteen Fashions, and the Toronto Dominion Bank.

Local merchants opening stores in the centre are Terrace Photo Supply, Erwin Jewellers, and K. T. Sporting Goods. K. T. Sporting Goods was previously Terrace Sporting Goods.

The new shopping centre was constructed by Dominion Construction Co. It has a covered mall linking all stores, sliding store fronts and a background music system.

The parking lot will hold 250 cars.

Earlier, on Tuesday evening an invitation — only preview of the new shopping centre will be held from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

A Dominion Construction spokesman said that a special 18 page flyer would be distributed to all Terrace residents Tuesday to announce the opening of Terrace Shopping Centre.

The centre is expected to attract shoppers from Kitimat, Hazelton and Smithers as well as the local community.

CHUCKLE

Teen-agers are upset these days because they're living in a world dominated by nuclear weapons, and adults are upset because they're living in a world dominated by teen-agers.

Hospital ready by September

Mills Memorial Hospital is expected to have both new additions complete by September 2.

Boak Alexander of architects Thompson, Berwick and Pratt told the Mills Hospital Board the south side construction of outpatients facilities and laboratories to be finished in early July.

Alexander said the north section of new construction, adding a second storey with new hospital wards should be completed by September.

The board re-elected A.J. Bud McColl as president for the coming year.

Murdo Macdonald was named vice-president, R.E. Dick Mason treasurer and hospital administrator Fred Clarke as secretary.

Next Board meeting will appoint chairmen of the board's committees.

Pensioners' housing to open May 25

Terrence's Senior Citizens Housing complex on Tuck Avenue will open May 25.

Announcement was made this week by Rev. George Keenleyside, chairman of the Inter-denominational Christian Welfare Council, which has brought the project into existence.

All 18 units of the housing complex will be occupied on the May 25 opening date, Mr. Keenleyside said.

Opening ceremony will start at 2 p.m. when prominent members of the Old Age Pensioners' Association, W.D. Griffiths, will cut the ribbon.

Arts Council meets in May

If you think you missed the meeting of the Terrace Arts Council, you didn't.

Council steering committee chairman Edna Cooper set the date for May 9. But the official invitation sent through the mails said April 9.

It starts at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Community Centre.

A charge of fifty cents will be made at the door. The fifty cents is a membership fee which confers the right to elect an executive. Steering committee will present a slate the meeting.

Finish the road

The proposal by the Stewart Board of Trade to complete the road link between Terrace and Stewart must find a sympathetic hearing locally.

Atlin's Frank Calder will approach the Terrace Chamber of Commerce for support in dealing with the Provincial Government.

The negotiations will be involved because the road leading to the final link between the two communities was put in on the initiative of Columbia Cellulose Company. It is their roads.

At issue is an initial three miles including a bridge, plus a further 30 miles for a link to Alice Arm.

Obviously it is not realistic to go cap in hand to a hard pressed Columbia Cellulose company to ask them to extend their road.

It is government action and initiative that is needed to complete the road and tap the major mining resources at Stewart and Alice Arm.

We trust that it will be forthcoming and that the proposal will not be clouded by interdepartmental waffling.

Letters to the Editor

Editor,
The first reaction to a drop in the cost of operating schools in Terrace is bound to be one of jubilation. However, perhaps a second look at both the local situation and the legislation which brings this reduction about would be worthwhile.

Perhaps the first question which comes to mind is that if school operating costs have dropped by 4 mills, why can we not expect 4 mills worth of increase in the quality of education offered in Terrace, without further impositions upon the local taxpayer? Our municipal council feels justified in commending the School Board for keeping costs below the provincial average. Surely none of us believe that we ever get more than we pay for. We are only too aware that any purchase we make in Terrace requires a higher cost than in most districts in the Province. Of course this also applies to other municipal costs and possibly the Council is justified in appropriating this 4 mill saving for other much needed facilities. However, let us not be misled into thinking that there are bargains to be had in education. If we are to provide our children with educational opportunities equal to those offered children in other areas, we must be prepared to pay the price. The cost of education is high but it is our best and safest investment.

Although there are many implications of the new legislation yet to be discovered, it is very evident that Terrace is one of the districts to benefit financially. I believe that our Board is to be congratulated upon the active part which they have played in persuading the Provincial Government to consider some method of equalizing the education tax burden. However, while gratefully accepting relief in Terrace this year, we must beware of the overall and future effect of this legislation. Both the B.C. Teachers' Federation and the Provincial Parent-Teachers organization have taken a public stand against the Bill. They believe the legislation to be detrimental and restrictive. They interpret the Bill as a move to cut the overall cost of education. This interpretation seems to have some validity in the light of the further building freezes which have been imposed upon school boards this year. It is difficult to conceive of a government policy which provides financial help to raise education standards and yet restricts the facilities in which to make such improvement effective.

Even though Terrace benefits immediately from the new Bill, we stand to lose a great deal if it is an instrument to restrict investment in the greatest natural resource of the Province. Our youth is our future. The future will make greater demands upon our youth than ever before. It is our duty and in our interest to see that they are adequately prepared.

Teachers' Association

Howard says north affected by Grits tight money policy

Frank Howard warned that the Liberals' tight money policy would injure development in northern BC this year.

Howard, seeking re-election as MP for Skeena in the June 25 federal election made the statement May 6 before leaving for Smithers.

The New Democratic Party candidate warned: "The tight money policy of the Liberals has forced interest rates up to an unprecedented level making money more costly to borrow. Hence prospective home owners cannot arrange the financing to build homes and contractors are holding back on any extensive undertakings because of the added costs forced on it by high interest rates."

He continued: We had the same situation in the early 1960's following the Liberal Government's tight money policy of the preceding years and this is simply a repeat performance, only the actors are different."

Howard said that Canada Manpower offices are aware of the situation and that any reluctance or refusal to rectify it on the part of the government was in effect a betrayal of the people in Northern B.C.

Local building increase cited

Terrace's building program for 1968 is ahead of last year's pace for the first four months. However, it is too early to predict whether building will exceed the record $8,528,544 worth of construction started in 1967. Figures were released this week by municipal building inspector E.H. Thomas.

They are based on the number of building permits issued by his office. A total of 12 permits for a total value of $380,950 was issued in April, compared with a 1967 figure of 24 permits for $222,702.

A total of $663,308 of construction has been started in 1968 compared with $581,874 for the same period last year.

Drizzle wets Thornhill's early birds

Drizzle and low overcast dampened the feathers of golfing early birds at Thornhill Course Saturday.

Some 20 golfers competed in the tournament. It took the early bird title from the tee-off time of 7:30 a.m.

Sid Sutton of Vancouver was the outstanding early bird and collected a wall clock for top medalist.

Roger Bennett of Kitimat appropriately received an alarm clock.

Runner-up medalist was Jim Pettie of Kitimat.

Top handicap winners were Pat Boyle and Tom Slenko of Terrace.

Ten prizes were awarded including one to junior Jim Phalen.

Early bird golfers received a coffee and pancake breakfast.

Thornhill manager Kurt Fotherhoff said that some of the early birds were off the tee as early as 6:30 a.m.

Thornhill has scheduled a beginners handicap for next Saturday from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Beginners play with experienced golfers. Course has waived green fees and rental fees for this nine-hole competition.

Store opens new addition

Another Terrace firm unveils a new addition this week. Sav-Mor Builders' Centre has declared "open house" for shoppers to inspect its new addition, 4826 Keith, May 9, 10 and 11. Store is open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

There will be coffee and donuts, apple pies at nine cents, and some 2,000 extra feet of merchandising space for shoppers to view.

Total addition is 3,000 square feet, with the extra 1,000 going to offices and home-planning department.

It's a long way since Stan Barton, company president, operated out of a 20 by 18 room on the same site, when Sav-Mor opened its doors May 1, 1963.

Two companies operate out of the Keith St. site, Sav-Mor and Norpine Construction.

Stan Barton is president of both. Norpine is construction with building credits including Terrace Municipal hall, schools and currently, the new Terrace airport terminal.

Sav-Mor is building supplies to cover what accountant Karl Ellingsen sums up as "complete home construction and maintenance."

"It's a one-stop shopping centre for building supplies," Ellingsen said.

The company also handles sash and door, a drafting and blueprint service, and markets the locally built Norpine prefabricated homes.

The new addition will see approximately an extra $10,000 worth of stock added to existing lines, with major expansion being made in the plumbing and electrical supplies lines.

Sav-Mor recently hired Terrace man Jack Radelet as general manager to coincide with the store expansion plans.

The south-of-the-tracks location has not harmed Sav-Mor, according to accountant Ellingsen. "We get good support from people in this part of the town," he said.

He said the company has experienced a steady growth since it was started here in 1963.

Spring Creek club swings in sunshine

Thirty-two members of the newly formed Spring Creek Golf Club found the sunshine to ball foursome tournament.

Prizes were plentiful. Ray Judd and Keith Melanson came in for the low gross award followed respectively by Phil Davies and Kip Gravelle, Margaret Ruehlenc and Keith Williams, Lowell Croft and Roy Jacques.

Net score champs were Patsey Davy and Henry Doell. And also in the top four were Glen Sisibe and Bud Schaeffer, Bernie Dodd and Ian Johnson, Harry Davy and Norah Jacques.

Bill Ruehlen and Orville Mello took low score for the first nine and Marcelle Sawan and Roy Johnson the honors for the second nine.

Borrowers try books in French

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP) — Since the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism classed this community as bilingual, interest in French has increased. The library board announced the circulation of French-language books has increased by 81 per cent this year over 1967.

People starve,

ST. HYACINTHE, Que. (CP) — Rev. Bernard Pavreau, head of the St. Hyacinthe division of the Canadian Catholic Organization for the Development of Underprivileged Countries, says each year 35,000,000 persons die throughout the world from hunger. In India, he says, it takes five hours of hard labor to earn enough to buy a quart of milk; in Canada it takes five minutes.

People around the town

Mrs. Otto van Bernevelde and son Peter, who left Terrace five years ago to make their home in Duncan, were visitors to town last week to attend the wedding of Anke Claus and Foppe Venema last Thursday. They drove up from the south and brought with them Anke Troelstra from U.B.C. and her sister Bertha from Victoria University who also attended the wedding.

A dinner meeting of the ladies auxiliary to the Terrace Air Cadets will be held in the Terrace Hotel dining room on May 13. The main business of the meeting will be to make arrangements for the forthcoming cadet inspection on June 11.

Mrs. W.H. (Pat) Melroy of Edmonton visited in Terrace at the week-end with her sister Mrs. Ina Roper and family and her brother Bruce Smith and family. She left for Prince Rupert to spend some time with her son David and family.

Mrs. Margaret Thompson and son Shane are visiting in Terrace with Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Doll. They have just returned from five years in New Zealand. They will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Doll when they leave at the end of May to make their home in Chilliwack. Mr. Doll had been a resident of Kitwanga from 1929 to 1960 when he moved to Terrace with Mrs. Doll who had resided in Kitwanga since their marriage in 1938. Roy Doll is retiring from Skeena Forest Products.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilf Fell and sons Doug and Bob and a friend, Elaine Pongracz, have returned from a vacation in Vancouver, San Francisco and Mountainview, California where they visited Mr. Fell's sister.

A WHITE CARNATION was naturally presented by brownie Dawn Marie Elliott to her mother Mrs. Gordon Elliott of the Lions' Ladies. Guides and Brownies, in street clothes will help the Lions' ladies in a sale of the paper carnations next Saturday, May 11.

Ceramic Tile Breaks "Wet Area Barrier"

Ceramic tile, once more or less confined to the bathroom, has broken the "wet area barrier." In many colors, sizes and shapes, domestic ceramic tile now lends itself to a variety of decorating ideas for virtually every room of the home.

One of the most dramatic uses of tile is the ceramic mosaic mural. Such a mural can be made from any favorite sketch or abstract design.

Do you know what has gray skin, four legs, and a trunk? A mouse on vacation, that wat.

Mom's Birthday
She didn't think she'd want a cake.
And all the fuss that parties make.
Well, maybe a cake — Oh, all right.
Maybe a candle or two for light.
You're happy with a cup of tea
You know, when you get old like me.

Looking so lovely sitting there—
Candle light on her silver hair.
Excited now — with eyes so bright —
Candles for all those years alight —
She blew them all out! Man alive!
Imagine that! — at eighty-five.

DISTRICT OF TERRACE P. O. Box 610 - TERRACE, B.C. NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held on proposed zoning amendment by-laws No. 475, 476 and 477. The proposed amendments are as follows:

1. A) By-law No. 475 is intended to re-zone Lot 5, Blk. A, D. L. 361, PL. 1265 from Res. No. 2 to Central Commercial. B) By-law No. 475 would also establish a new service station category called S3 (neighbourhood service station). This category would permit service stations but not garages in certain residential areas. Before any installation of this type would be permitted the area would have to be specifically zoned to S3.

2. By-law No. 476 is intended to re-zone Lot 1, except portion of subdivision by PL. 4375, Blk. A, subdivision of Blks. 8, 9, 10 & 11, D. L. 838 PL. 3460 from Res. No. 3 to neighbourhood service station (S3).

3. By-law No. 477 is intended to re-zone parcel 2 of Blks. 11 & 12, D. L. 837 PL. 3363 from Res. No. 2 & Rural to Res. No. 3.

The proposed amending by-laws may be viewed during regular business hours at the municipal office.

The public hearing shall be held in the council chambers of the municipal building on Monday May 13th, 1968 at 12:00 o'clock noon.

All persons having any interest in the proposed amendments aforementioned shall take notice and be governed accordingly.

Co-op unveils new addition

Board of Directors re-elected were Ivan Benoit, Floyd Frank, and Ed Rauschenberger. Elected were Don Deane, A.E. "Ted" Johnston, W.L. Orr and Jack Revers of Kitimat.

The directors recommended a patronage refund this year of 2 per cent to all members. This will be retained in the member's account.

The association has some 300 members.

Staff members presented with pins for 10 year service were Mrs. Freda de Jong, O.C. "Sandy" Parkvum; and for five year's service, Arie deLange, Alfonso Thomas and Ernest "Curly" Cox.

Retiring board directors Mrs. Roy Doll, Howard Harper and Al Richardson were thanked for their services on the board.

Following the business session a workshop was conducted. Answers were given by manager Corbin King, department managers and directors.

The ladies of the Rebekah Lodge catered.

SALT WAS PRECIOUS
The word "salary" comes from ancient Rome, for soldiers were paid "salarium" or salt, a commodity precious enough to serve as money.

With the presence of associate officials and town dignitaries the Terrace Co-Op million dollar addition officially opened on Tuesday, April 30.

Barney Johnsrude, general manager of Co-Op Wholesale, Burnaby, brought greetings and best wishes, and Skeena MLA Dudley G. Little congratulated the Terrace Co-Op on its expansion.

Terrace Municipality was represented by Alderman Campbell Lane and the Chamber of Commerce by president Frank Skidmore, who together ceremonially cut the ribbon to open the new store.

At the same time hundreds of colored balloons fell upon the crowd that gathered in the store for the ceremony.

"Terrace Co-Op is the best consumer Co-Op of the one hundred members in British Columbia," said Mr. Johnsrude at a breakfast attended by some 80 persons.

"I would like to pay tribute," Mr. Johnsrude said, "to an organization that has moved so rapidly and so soundly in 21 short years."

Alderman Campbell Lane said: "This is a wonderful thing in the community not only for its members but for everyone."

Skeena MLA Dudley Little had this to say: "The Co-Op has waited so long for this day and is to be congratulated on this $3 Million business; it is actually an empire within the community."

Frank Skidmore brought greetings from the Chamber of Commerce with the comment: "It is a far cry from the store that was here when I arrived in Terrace, and from my viewpoint — this is a very fine piece of real estate."

Ted Johnston, who handles Co-Op insurance in this area said: "I am very happy to be a member of Co-Op. This building is actually a place to do business; Co-Op is people working together to supply themselves with goods and services."

Al Richardson, president of the Co-Op board paid tribute to Manager Corbin King saying: "The drive of the manager has kept the board progressive but controlled."

Al Jones brought greetings from Central Credit Union; greeting was read from Frank Howard MP, who was unable to attend; and from George Viereck, Prince Rupert Co-Op.

Co-Op Manager Corbin King thanked all who had participated in the construction of the building; officials who had helped the cause; the board of directors and the 80 employees.

"Co-Ops must grow and serve," he said, "and heed the desires of its members. It is not our intention to be a dominating force in this community, but to be part of it."

HAS LEAST PEOPLE
Alaska's population of 272,000 is the least of the 50 U.S. states.

Nass choir to sing in Terrace

Choir of St. Andrew's Church Greenville, will sing in Terrace Sunday May 12.

The touring choir will be heard at 7:30 p.m. in St. Mathews Church, 4726 Lazelle.

The choir and organist will provide the music for the service.

Some 30 men and women are expected to take part in the tour. They will sing at the morning service at Christ Church, Kitimat.

They return to Greenville after the Terrace service.

"This should be a real musical treat for Terrace people," Rev. A.P. Horsfield of St. Mathews commented.

Choir will sing "All hail the power of Jesus name" to a Nass river tune.

Passages from the Bible will be sung in Anglican chant, an art form developed for the singing of Bible verses.

"The hymn 'Guide me, Oh Great Jehovah' will be sung by the congregation to the Welsh tune Cwm Rhonda.

At least one spoke prayer will be offered in the Nishga language. Sermon will be based on the world-wide need for the friendship of Christ.

Mr. Horsfield said that all are welcome to the service. "A special invitation is given to music lovers who are not normally accustomed to church-going," he said.

Ask Ann Landers

Moustache
no asset to clever girl

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was very disappointed in your answer to the woman who wrote about her moustache. She said she was well aware of the unsightly growth of hair over her lip and that she had tried several things advertised in magazines but nothing had worked.

Why didn't you give her some moral support instead of putting her down? You should have told the woman that a man who would attach so much importance to a flaw in her looks can't be worth much in the first place. The writer described herself as a college graduate and an avid reader. She said she attended concerts frequently and took night school classes in art and literature. This would indicate she is an intellectual person. Surely her superior mind ought to count for something. Somewhere in this world there MUST be a thinking man who would appreciate this woman's real worth.

You can square things by printing this letter.—PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR PENN: Unfortunately, most men can see better than they can think.

There is no reason for a woman to have a moustache in this day and age. If one thing doesn't work, she should try another, until she finds something that does work. Many women have had success with depilatory creams and bleaches. Others have gone to electrolysis. The dame who expects a man to look past her moustache into her superior mind is asking a great deal.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am only 17 years older than my daughter. (She is 16.) No one would believe I am Phyllis' mother unless they were told. We look like sisters. This does not bother me, but it seems to bother Phyllis.

My husband and I were divorced two years ago. Ever since that time Phyllis has had the crazy notion I am after her boyfriends. Last Friday an attractive kid of 19 came by to take Phyllis to a dance at a nearby fun-center for teens. When he arrived, my daughter was not ready (as usual) so I thought I should entertain him. The stereo was on and the music was great so we started to dance. We danced together as if we had practiced for years. He was amazed I knew all the latest steps. Suddenly he said, "Why don't you come to the dance with us?" I didn't have anything else to do and it sounded like fun so I said, "I'd love to."

Just then Phyllis came in. When I told her about my nifty invitation she didn't look very happy but I figured she'd get over it.

To make a long story short, I had a ball but Phyllis spent most of the evening in the ladies room. This morning she yelled about my staying in my own generation and accused me of trying to cut into her social life. How can I get some sense into this foolish girl's head? Can I help it if I look more like a girl friend than a mother? —SPRINGTIME

DEAR TIME: Your daughter doesn't need a 33-year-old girl friend. She needs a mother — and it's time you started to behave like one.

You should not have accepted the young man's invitation. There are times when it is good manners to say "No, thank you." This was one of those times.

In the future I hope you will conduct yourself with a little restraint in the presence of Phyllis' friends. A youthful and attractive mother can pose a serious threat to her daughter's sense of security.

EDMONTON (CP) — Many older people, although retired would like to remain in the city rather than move to the suburbs. That is why Rev. Leon Linquist, a Lutheran minister, is studying the possibility of providing high-rise, low-rental downtown accommodation for the aged. Dr. Linquist said in an interview that many retired persons are without adequate companionship and fellowship.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES CREWSE

Former Skeena grad
married down south

Tsawwassen United Church was the scene of a pretty spring wedding, March 23, of a former Skeena Secondary School graduate.

The bride was Charlene Joanne Davis, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Davis, former Terrace residents, and the groom was Charles Dean Crewse, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Crewse, Huggins, Missouri.

An archway of spring blossoms and standards of white and pink gladiolas and chrysanthemums trimmed the church for the candlelight ceremony conducted by Rev. R.G. Kilgour.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length empire styled gown of peau d'elephant. Embroidery accented the matching fitted jacket with lily point sleeves and also the four tier scalloped train that swept back from the high waist line. Her bridal veil of silk illusion net fell in graduated lengths from a full length ring and extended to a full length mist over the train. Her cascading bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids, pink sweetheart roses and ivy and the traditional good luck symbols completed the bridal assemblage.

Maid of honour Miss Robin Davis and bridesmaid Miss Janice Davis, sisters of the bride, wore identical gowns in pale blue linen with fitted bodices and slightly flared skirts. Their headpieces of shasta daisies on velvet streamers were en tone and they carried baskets of rosebuds and daisies.

Karl Wise of Santa Clara, California, was best man and Peter Dickie ushered the guests to the pre-wedding with white bows and heather.

Soloist Mrs. A. Collins sang The Lord's Prayer at the commencement of the service and The Wedding Prayer during the signing of the register. Accompanist was Mrs. McCallum, who also played the wedding music.

A reception followed at the Airport Inn. To receive here guests the bride's mother chose a rose wool coat dress and hat with navy accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

A three-tier wedding cake, topped by a dainty arrangement of pink rosebuds and white carnations, flanked by tapers in silver candleabra, centered the bride's table. H.J. Davis of Calgary proposed the toast to his niece.

Among the many out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Skoglund of Terrace and Mrs. J. Goodkey of Prince George.

Carping customers
help manufacturers

Every individual has a part to play in the matter of consumer protection.

This is especially true concerning foods, drugs and cosmetics, says the federal health department's publication, "Food, Drug, Cosmetic Protection for Canadians".

While the directorate strives to minimize health hazards and fraud or deception, it advises and urges consumers themselves to do their part and thus to avoid further restrictions by law.

There are times when consumers should write manufacturers and make their grievances known.

"Honest mistakes are made by even the most conscientious manufacturers, who in the majority of cases, are grateful when the mistakes are brought to their attention by a consumer and are quick to make redress," the publication says.

Consumers are encouraged to report to the directorate all evidence of irresponsible, fraudulent and unsanitary or otherwise dangerous practices.

As well, consumers are asked to take the time to read labels. "Under Food and Drug requirements, labels are more than an embellishment or eye catcher. They must contain certain items of important information and in the case of drugs and cosmetics often contain vital directions for use and cautions or warnings. Too often consumers ignore this information and have cause to regret it," the publication says.

Dr. Stevens has worked with welfare organizations such as the Calgary Family Bureau Social Planning Council, John Howard Society, Elizabeth Fry Society, Lacombe Home and Providence Creche which she organized.

With Dr. Frank Morley she started the Calgary Canadian Citizenship Council and worked with Hungarian and T.B. refugees.

Dr. Stevens has worked on all levels with the Catholic Women's League and was National President from 1962 to 1964. She spent seven years as a Calgary Alderman, a member of the Hospital Board, Chairman of the Welfare Committee and a member of the Recreation and Sports Committee.

Dr. Stevens is a member of the Canadian Women's Press club and a charter member of the Zonta Club. At present Dr. Stevens devotes her energies as Executive Secretary of Catholic Charities and Manager of Clothes Bank and four Thrift Shops of Catholic Family Stores.

Fashions taking cues
from old film styles

Dresses and sportswear have gone soft and supple. Gone are the stiff, cardboard styles that have camouflaged the flattering curves the pretty girl delights in showing off. Close-to-body styles that define the shape are non-restrictive, with wraps that fall fluidly and gracefully to enhance the elegant and romantic look that today's movie-makers have inspired.

The influence of Hollywood and the art films is everywhere. The Zhivago belted look shows off a small waist; the long draped Tom Jones sleeve falls loose and free; the rush of a full skirt creates a rhythm of movement when in motion; the Bonnie and Clyde tailored shirt goes languid and moody.

Colors are clear and bright. Prints of varying dimensions go a little softer. Stripes are "in," from the narrowed to the big, bold block busters. Florals have grown to super dimensions in a collection of Haitian inspired prints. Pucci-like prints still zig-zag and swirl in hot colors that makes the signature unmistakably his; and solid colors in light and bright shades mix-and-match to coordinate or contrast.

The popularity of knits keeps growing. There is no limitation to their use. They are cleverly constructed, and from the standpoint of wearability, women love them.

As hems flip out, jackets shape in, and waistlines return, there'll be even broader use of soft, drapable knits. For Spring '68 designers have snapped up a new silky knit that looks like silk matte jersey. Women will love the luster of the fabric and the luxurious feeling next to the skin. This silky new fiber, called texture set Enkalure nylon, is from American Enka.

Designers and couturiers were inspired by the wide variety of prints on Enkalure nylon. Loomtogs created a Haitian inspired sportswear collection in exotic flower patterns of Jasmine, Frangipani, Mimosa and Orange Blossom; Guy D translated today's romantic mood in a form-fitting dress with a deep V neckline; Mr. Thompson, the coordinates master, worked Pucci-like prints and mixed and matched them with solids for a casual look; Gabriella of Pranz styled tunics and tights in color-crazy pop prints.

SMILE-A-WHILE

A salty admiral in from sea walked up to a young in a neatly tailored khaki uniform at the air station and asked, "Where's the master-at-arms?"

"I don't know."

"Where's the officer of the day, do you know that?"

"Nope."

"Young man, don't you even know enough to say sir when addressing a superior officer?"

"Sir," the khaki-uniformed man answered, "I'm the Coca Cola man." —Great Lakes Bulletin

DECORATIVE PANELING and design ingenuity combine to convert wasted basement space into multi-purpose family room. Hidden, touch-latch built-ins hold magazines, music, home office supplies. Folding metal doors lead to laundry. Paneled divider wall beyond stairs conceals guest room.

Cooking, laundry set-up helps save steps

Grandma really got around. Upstairs, downstairs, out in the yard, down in the basement and back to the kitchen was her usual Monday routine. Even though Monday was somewhat synonymous with laundry — a job that usually kept her hopping from basement to backyard — other daily chores continually demanded that she be elsewhere. There's no need to be a marathon hiker today. With a truly efficient kitchen, including a complete but separate home laundry centre, a home-maker's two biggest jobs — cooking and laundry — can be done at the same time and place. And laundry can be done the modern way — when it's needed, perhaps daily, without letting it accumulate into a major chore.

Cooking and laundry facilities can be separated, within a single room, according to a plan suggested by the Maytag Home Laundry Center.

The plan uses a counter eating area as a room divider. If the counter has an L shape, one arm can extend into the room for the eating area, and the other can go along a wall and contain cooking facilities, complete with appliances and plenty of counter space.

The sink may be located in the corner of the L, where it can be used for occasional laundry needs as well as for kitchen purposes.

The other side of the counter room divider provides the separate area for the laundry. In addition to a fully automatic washer and dryer, the plan calls for plenty of storage room in built-in cabinets.

To provide space where durable press articles may be hung immediately as they are taken from the dryer, a full-length closet may be located next to the dryer. Such a closet also will provide room for the ironing board.

Cupboard space for detergent, bleach, fabric softener and any other laundry supplies can be located next to the washer.

Further storage space is provided by other counter-level cabinets fitted with shelves that hold sorting bins for soiled laundry. Counter space on top of the cabinet may be used for sorting and folding the clean clothing.

Fixing Up Patio With Clay Pots

An attractive terrace or patio table can be made with three large clay flower pots and a circular piece of wood. Invert the three pots and space them evenly in a tripod arrangement. Then simply place a circular piece of wood over the pots to serve as a table surface. Use redwood or a precast concrete slab.

Assemble a handy cigarette receptacle from two clay pots. Invert the first pot, then stack the second right side up. Place a three-inch bolt, backed by rubber washers, through the drainage holes to anchor the pots, then fill the top pot with sand. Add a bright coat of paint, or some of the new decals.

Give each cocktail guest his own hibachi by using eight to 10-inch red clay flower pots. Plug the drainage hole, put charcoal in the bottom of the pot, the grill goes on top.

Plan your landscaping for an improved home

Why landscape a home? For most people, the self-evident answer is the right one — to improve the appearance of the home. Another reason has great importance. Beautiful landscaping increases home value, too.

When to do landscaping? This question is more complex, since it usually involves another: How to pay for it?

Many older homes need a renewal of landscaping, because plants have grown too large for available space or have become untidy or diseased. And many newer homes need additional landscaping. The plantings around the brand new home may be very basic — a lawn, a few shrubs and trees.

Yet the homeowner who wants landscaping is likely to have other demands on his finances. He's paying for his new home, or, if it's an older home, he's paying for major home improvements such as new siding. He may wonder about taking on the added responsibility of paying for a complete landscaping job.

In many cases, landscaping costs can be added to an existing mortgage, if the same bank handles both the loan and the mortgage. Other types of loans to finance landscaping are available from banks and loan associations. Or, nurserymen may offer their own financing plans.

For the homeowner who prefers to arrange for landscaping on a cash basis, there's a simple solution: Do it step by step. Start with an over-all plan for the final effect desired, and take

Hippies claim victory after fountain fight

Stays of proceedings against 11 hippies summonsed on charges of loitering at Vancouver's courthouse fountain were entered in magistrate's court last week.

The crown action was immediately halled as a victory by Sid Simons, President of the British Columbia Civil Liberties Association.

Earlier, Stan Persky, a University of British Columbia student had been convicted of loitering at the fountain March 9. He spent three days in jail before agreeing to sign a bond promising to keep the peace.

Prosecutor Stewart McMorran told the court the anti-loitering law's purpose is to maintain and regulate access to public buildings.

What's so great about phoning on Sunday?

Costs one-fifth less—that's what!

Sunday is the put-your-feet-up-and-relax day. That's why we made it bargain day for phoning. All day Sunday long distance calls cost around 20% less than on weekdays — with a maximum charge of only $1.95 for a three-minute, station-to-station call between any two points in Canada. This day-long rate reduction is particularly convenient when phoning relatives or friends in eastern Canada, with its three to four hour time differential. The same reduced charges apply each weekday evening after 6 p.m. So why bother to write, especially on lazy Sunday?

Move made to 'squeeze' air corridors

MONTREAL (CP)—Can an extra airplane be squeezed into the aerial corridors over the busiest and most profitable route in the world?

The International Civil Aviation Organization set out to find the answer last July. Its study will be completed in May.

The survey will determine whether the minimum lateral separation required by today's jet aircraft over the Atlantic Ocean can be safely reduced.

ICAO, which sets regulations governing air safety and navigation, proposed a reduction from the present 120 miles to 90 miles between aircraft. North Atlantic traffic is growing so swiftly that room must be found in the air for more planes.

The International Federation of Air Line Pilots' Association protested that reducing the separation would constitute a safety hazard.

It claimed that navigation errors are taking place with aircraft sometimes 45 nautical miles off course.

The current survey, designed to settle the dispute, is being conducted by the North Atlantic System Planning Group, formed about three years ago by ICAO and six member states working in co-operation with the International Air Transport Association and international associations of airline pilots and navigators.

Canada is co-ordinating and planning the survey, providing an analysis team and producing the elaborate log forms being filled in by pilots.

Aircraft are being detected by radar from strategically-placed ocean vessels and from ground-based radar at Gander, Nfld., and Kilkee, Ireland.

Computer-analysed results are expected to indicate how far jet flights may be likely to stray from their charted courses.

United States radar ships are also taking up various stations in the survey area which stretches from the 70th north parallel of latitude, south to a line linking Madeira, Spain, with Nantucket Island, in the U.S.

All information is fed into a computer at the Royal Aircraft Establishment at Farnborough, England.

Navigation capability has improved and sooner or later distance between airliners will have to be reduced, an IATA spokesman said in an interview.

However, a pilots' association spokesman says that at a cruising speed of 600 miles an hour, even the slightest uncorrected drift eats up a fantastic amount of space in a few minutes.

There are two daily rush periods on the North Atlantic, each of about six hours duration. A wave of 150 jets heads for Canada and the U.S. in the morning to return later in the evening.

They travel in a channel 360 miles broad in three streams or tracks. Each track is 120 miles apart.

CBC lists fall TV schedules

The CBC-TV has released its fall program schedule.

There will be 13 Canadian entertainment spectaculars this season plus four Wayne and Shuster Comedy Hours.

Harry Belafonte is now negotiating with the CBC for a co-production arrangement that would see Belafonte Enterprises and the CBC produce three musical extravaganzas starring international celebrities.

Alex Barris will host Barris and Company, a comedy-oriented talk and talent show to follow Hockey Night in Canada.

News and Public Affairs continue to play a major prime time role in CBC programming. The Public Eye and the Ottawa-originated Twenty Million Questions will exchange time periods, with Public Eye schedules for Wednesdays at 9:00 p.m. and Twenty Million Questions Tuesdays at 10:30 p.m.

The Way It Is will be back, Sundays at 10:00 p.m. and News magazine will again be scheduled in its familiar spot, Tuesdays at 10:00 p.m.

Quentin Durgens, will have his parliamentary session extended from 10 to 17 weeks in the Tuesday evening drama period. Gordon Pinsel will star in fifteen new episodes plus a second showing of the two-hour convention story screened on CBC-TV last month.

New on the full network in prime time are: The Name Of The Game and The Doris Day Show. The Name Of The Game is a new NBC 90-minute drama described by the originators as "television's first motion picture series".

After Quentin Durgens, ten of the most popular episodes of the hard-hitting contemporary Wojek series will be rescheduled. Early in the Festival season Gratien Gelinas will star in his own widely-acclaimed stage play, "Yesterday The Children Were Dancing", which is one of the most eloquent statements yet made on Quebec separatism and also deals with the generation gap in family life.

Paul St. Pierre, author of the award-winning "The Education of Phyllis" and "How To Break A Quarter Horse", now offers Sister Balonka, a sensitive 90-minute film drama set in Canada's Yukon and concerning a young man with a free spirit. Directed by Philip Keatley of CBC Vancouver, the story stars Vi Fowlan of Calgary in the title role.

Many established prime time shows, will return for another season, although several will change spots in the schedule. Don Messer will move to Friday evenings at 8:30 p.m., replacing The Tommy Hunter Show which will be seen Sunday evenings at 7:00 p.m. Telescope will be scheduled at 8:00 p.m. Thursday moving up one-half hour from its present spot.
